W. T. SUMMER ENROLLMENT SHOWS INCREASE

Plans Being Made to Celebrate July Fourth

PROGRAM FOR ALL DAY WILL ATTRACT MANY

Committee Working Out Features of Interest to All Citizens of Randall County

PROGRAM IS FREE

Candidates Will Talk To Voters During the Afternoon — Games For the Children

Plans are rapidly developing for the Fourth of July celebration which will be staged in Canyon. The Chamber of Commerce committee met with President W. A. Warren Friday night, and progress is reported this week on plans for the program for the day.

The High School Band will open the program at 9:00 o'clock Saturday morning, playing a concert for one hour. Irby Carruth is in charge of this feature.

From 10:00 until 12:00 o'clock games will be played by the youngsters. Wes Kleinschmidt, Delbert Lowes, and Andy Walsh will be in charge of this feature. All kinds of races and contests will be staged under the direction of this committee.

At noon visitors will be invited to spread their lunchean under the trees of the court house lawn. Town people are invited to join the visitors in having picnic lunches at that time.

At 1:30 a softball game will be staged between a selected Canyon team, and a team from one of the neighboring towns. Delbert Lowes will be in charge of this feature.

From 3:00 o'clock until 6:00 o'clock candidates will be heard on the court house lawn. State, district and county candidates are being invited for this feature. Clyde Warwick will introduce the various speakers.

At 6:30 o'clock an old fiddlers' contest is being planned to be followed by a street dance. It is likely that this will be the old fashioned square dance with music by the Canyon Novelty Orchestra.

All organizations in Canyon are invited to join in the plans for the day, and to plan for features which may be added to the attractiveness of the celebration. Organizations which wish to enter features in the celebration are requested to confer with Mr. Warren.

WPA May Put All Qualified Men to Work in Randall

WPA workers who were dropped from the rolls, and those eligibles who have not been given work will be interviewed Friday, Saturday and Monday, June 5, 6, 8. with the view of reinstating all eligibles in the county.

When the orders came several weeks ago to reduce WPA forces, 30 men and 3 women were dropped from the rolls, and a number of employables who had been certified for work could not be given jobs.

In view of the continued hard conditions in this section, it is now ordered that all cases be reopened with a view of reinstating those who were dropped, and giving others a chance for employment.

The relief office was moved Saturday to the Baltimore building on the east side of the square, and a representative from WPA will interview those eligible for jobs this week. This will probably be the only chance that will be offered for re-instatement during the summer months.

Irby Carruth was in Tulia on Tuesday to address the Kiwanis Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Myers of Panhandle visited in the home of Mrs. Ruby Murphy, Sunday.

Correspondents and Reporters Invited to Hear Casey

All correspondents and reporters who contribute weekly to The Canyon News are urged to hear Prof. J. H. Casey when he speaks to this class especially, at the college auditorium on Friday afternoon, June 12, at 2:30 o'clock.

Mr. Casey is a recognized authority on country newspapers, and newspaper publication.

A number of country newspapers in the Panhandle have promised to send their correspondents and reporters to Canyon for this lecture.

All reporters for the Home Demonstration clubs, for the social clubs of Canyon, as well as the weekly correspondents of The News are urged to be present.

Superintendent Of Wheeler Schools Is Head W. T. Exes.

Following the annual luncheon of W. T. Exes Thursday, Lee Gilmore, superintendent of the Wheeler schools, was elected president of the association for the coming year, succeeding George Heath of White Deer.

Ferman Sawyer, superintendent of the Canadian schools, was elected first vice president; Miss Fannie Sue Brasuel, home economics teacher of the Canyon schools, second vice president; John McCarty of the Amarillo Globe-News and Supt. L. H. Rhodes of Dalhart, directors.

Mr. McCarty made the principal address at the luncheon. He praised the spirit of the college and what it had been able to accomplish, but urged that more fighting spirit be instilled in the student body and the athletic teams.

Old Age Pensions Will Start July First for 65,000

Old age assistance office in Austin said yesterday a general average of about $20 would be paid approximately 65,000 persons on the pension rolls beginning July 1.

Based on Saturday requirements as to need, payments will range from $9 to the maximum of $30, or $15 from the state and $15 from the federal government.

Texas recently was granted $1,181,250 by the federal social security board to match state funds accruing from liquor taxes.

"Payments will be based on need," a statement said. "It is also true that payments will be $30 a month to those whose needs require it.

"However, the general average will be $20 to each old person on the pension rolls. This average is in itself $5 a month more to each needy old person than he could get if Texas had a blanket pension program of $15 a month only."

Survey Made Monday By Highway Regarding Underpass Work

Highway engineers were here Monday making a survey on the Santa Fe with a view of starting work on the underpass as soon after July 1st as possible.

Present plans call for the underpass to be built just east of the depot. However, surveys were made Monday on both 15th street, running north from the First National Bank, and on 14th street.

From a business standpoint and one of convenience to the people of Canyon the underpass on 15th street has several advantages.

F. E. Savage left Tuesday for New York where he will attend New York University during the summer. He will attend the Rotary International Convention at Atlantic City as a delegate from the local Rotary Club.

Instruction For Bonus Payments Are Very Simple

Bonds Coming Soon After June 15 — Checks Will Come Here From the Dallas Postoffice

Ex-service men of Randall county will receive their bonus bonds in a day or two following Monday, June 15th.

A lot of information has been printed in the daily newspapers as to how these bonds will be handled, but a few simple instructions have been received by Postmaster Guy Harp, which will be followed in Randall county.

The bonds will be mailed from Dallas June 15th by registered mail. This letter may be delivered by the postmaster only to the ex-service man to which it is addressed. No member of his family can receive this registered letter. The letter cannot be forwarded. If the ex-service man has moved since his application was made for the bonus, he must return to Canyon to receive the registered letter.

If the ex-service man decides to keep the bonds, which draw interest, the transaction is closed for the present.

But if he wishes to cash the bonds, he should have the bonds certified at the postoffice, and the bonds will be returned to the Dallas postoffice without charge. A check will be mailed from Dallas direct to the ex-service man in payment of the bonds due him.

Dallas is the forwarding point for all bonds in this section, and the government will issue checks from there in exchange for the bonds of practically all counties in the state.

All of the information necessary in handling the bonds will be available at the postoffice when the registered letters are received.

It is planned by the government to make shipments of registered letters out of Dallas in such a manner that the mail will not be flooded. Therefore, no one can

Alfred Bellah, owner of the Bellah Grocery and Market, announces this week the opening of the new meat department in connection with the grocery department.

The Bellah Grocery has been in operation for 12 years. One year ago Alfred Bellah bought all the stock, and is the individual owner of the business.

C. L. Cecil is in charge of the meat department. Only the choicest home fattened and home butchered beef will be handled through the market, states Mr. Bellah.

Adult Education Classes Will Be Free to Everyone

Mrs. Ruth E. Baker, a graduate of W. T., working through the Emergency Adult Education Department, will offer training in the speech arts and a comprehensive study of Texas history, stressing centennial and local facts. These courses will be without charge, and offered to all adults above sixteen years of age. Much interest has been shown in such courses in other cities of Texas. In some towns various clubs have sponsored the work and large classes were enrolled in each subject.

Mrs. Baker wishes to emphasize contemporary history as well as that of the past. Canyon is the center of rich historical lore that adds much charm and interest to the history of the state. Other points of interest will be taken up and correlated with the centennial of the Lone Star State. Book reviews, reports of special interest, and open forum discussion of the questions that affect Texas today will be included in the work.

The speech course will place special emphasis upon the practical, the useable, and the activities of interest in every day life, such as effective platform speaking, dramatic interpretation, extemporaneous speech, short story writing, or other phases of speech that may be in demand.

Mrs. Baker will hold classes each evening from six until eight o'clock in the Randall County court room, beginning Friday, June 5. All adults who are interested in reviewing these subjects are invited to the class.

President Roosevelt Will Start Monday on Trip Thru Southwest

The Marine Band will accompany the President on the trip.

PANHANDLE MEMBER PRESS ASSOCIATION

WE LIKE TO THROW FITS

Having lived in the Panhandle for almost 26 years, we believe that this period of citizenship should entitle us to somewhat of an insight into the nature of our people.

Of all people on earth, Panhandle folks like to throw a fit.

We like to get mad about things, and bless some one out in real old fashioned style.

We like to rave!

When times are good, there is no place on earth so good as the Panhandle.

When the depression and drouth hit, no place on earth needed so much help, and needed it so badly as the Panhandle.

We like to go to extremes.

That's the reason this is a great country. There is no middle busting for our people. We swing the full distance, to the right or the left, depending upon conditions.

That is the reason people like this section. We like to be moving, and moving in a big way.

Just now we are all criticising the motion picture which has been made at the direction of Dr. Rex Tugwell, "The Plow That Broke the Plains."

It seems from all information that has leaked out from the Resettlement office in Amarillo that the only solution to the unprecedented drouth this section has endured for the past five years is to turn this section back into grass. That office has finally got around to tell us this is their solution of the problem.

We are throwing a fit about the things which are being said and done by this office, yet it was only a year ago that speeches were being made over the Plains by local people condemning the ravages of the one-way plow; we have all condemned "city farming"; we have poured it on the non-residents who have not done their part.

Perhaps many of the things which are now underway, and the ideas which seem to be coming from Washington are in reality the thoughts of people right here in the Panhandle who were unduly alarmed at unprecedented conditions.

No one questions the severity of the drouth; no one denies that every citizen did everything in his power to persuade Washington and Austin that we were receiving too little aid, and that more money was needed for every sort of project which was presented.

The News has sent out scores of letters, along with those of other citizens of Randall county, asking for more aid, all of which were written with the view of impressing the need of immediate action. Perhaps we overdid our distress.

Soil erosion is nothing new. It has been going on since the day the Pilgrims landed. But it is only recently that efforts have been made to stop erosion. As a new movement, a lot of foolish things have been tried and others will be tried, or at least proposed.

No doubt many of the men sent to this section under the guise of soil conservation know little or nothing about soil erosion, and many have shown little intelligence in their actions and their performances.

The motion picture now being condemned, since the rains have fallen, was taken to impress the administration. Had not the rains fallen, perhaps the picture would not be so severely condemned.

But the fact that we have had 3 to 8 inches of rain over the Plains does not mean that the question of soil conservation has been solved. For the present many people believe the drouth is over, and the future is very rosy. It is going to be hard to convert all the people that better methods of farming should be done, perhaps on a smaller scale, with a view of conserving every drop of moisture which falls whether it be in December or June.

All this discussion will no doubt bring about a better understanding of our needs, and will enable the really thoughtful leaders of the administration to find a way out. Conservation of soil is not only the talk of the Panhandle, but it is being talked all over the nation.

GOOD LUCK, OLIN

The Panhandle is soon to lose two of its most brilliant and enterprising young newspaper men. The Nunns of Amarillo and Pampa recently bought the Lexington, Kentucky, Herald. Saturday they sold the Pampa News to R. C. Hoiles and his son, Clarence Hoiles, of Santa Ana, Calif., who recently bought the Clovis News-Journal. Gilmore Nunn will assume active management of the Lexington paper on June 15 and will take with him Olin E. Hinkle as editor. The Canyon News extends congratulations to the young publishers as they step into larger fields of endeavor.

From a newspaper standpoint, we take special pride in the success that has come to Olin Hinkle.

As a lad he spent several years with The Canyon News, doing everything from deviling up to editing. Everything that Olin did was well accomplished, whether it be washing up the presses, sweeping out, or writing the leading article or editorial. Halfway methods did not appeal to this young, ambitious, energetic boy who early in life chose the newspaper field for his life's work.

So impressed were we with Olin's ability that a way was found for him to go through the famous newspaperman's finishing plant at the University of Missouri. He was the first of six good newspaper men who have gone from the News to this School of Journalism.

Olin soon decided that the small town daily was to be his field. He looked over the big town field, but saw the greater opportunities connected with the small town. After working in Blackwell, Oklahoma, and Sweetwater, he made connection with the Nunns at Pampa, and has been editor of the News since it started as a daily nine years ago. The success and growth of the Pampa News has been largely due to the intelligent energy which Olin Hinkle poured into it.

Every Panhandle publisher will feel a distinct personal loss as Gilmore and Olin leave this field, but will wish for them continued and growing success among the Kentucky Colonels.

REGARDING PENSIONS

The Panhandle Herald for several years has become reconciled to old age pensions. Townsend workers will not get their $200 a month, but their efforts are calling attention to the people to pensions. Various states are thus beginning in a moderate way to pay pensions. As the plans work out, it is probable that the pension payments will increase in future years.

The pitiful thing about the whole pension movement to this editor is that the old persons have not been able to save enough money during their working days to provide for old age. And what is worse, is the inability and indifference of the younger generation to the old fathers and mothers. It seems in the old days that children regarded it a solemn, implied obligation to support their aged parents, provided they were in distress. But they are trying to shift that responsibility today to the government.

And then Dave adds the following as a statement of Judge Newton P. Willis of Pampa:

He declared that the standard of living was so high for young people today that they could not support their parents. Not only do they spend all their immediate income, but they also mortgage their future by too much unwise installment buying, he pointed out.

Voters of Texas will be confronted with another lengthy primary ballot in July. A smaller number of local candidates seem to be the rule in most counties, but there is another deluge of state candidates. It costs only $100 for a candidate to get his name on the state primary ballot. This money goes to the state executive committee to defray the expenses of the state organization. The county and precinct candidates must be taxed with a sufficient amount to defray the expenses of two primary elections in all counties. This makes the expenses very high for local candidates when the number is small. There are too many men who are willing to spend $100 with the state committee just to see how far they can get in a state election without any effort on their part, but their foolishness in filing for office piles up the expense on the local candidates in the 254 counties. It would be advisable to increase the state filing rate to at least $250, giving half to the state committee and divide the balance among the 254 counties.

The school trustees are to be highly congratulated in employing R. G. Stevenson during the summer months to keep the band work going. The youngsters are busy every day in their practice. In two weeks, regular band concerts will be be given down town, and on the Fourth of July the band will have an important part in the day's celebration. Three large horns are needed for the band, which cannot very well be purchased by the individual members. The three horns will cost about $500, and would belong to the school. The members of the band are furnishing the other instruments. Those who appreciate the band should start a fund in order to buy these instrument in order to develop a well rounded high school and community band.

Canyon will stage a Fourth of July celebration that will be of great interest to the people of this section. No high powered schemes to extract money from the people will be permitted. It is intended to make the day one for getting together; visiting; having dinner on the court house lawn; plenty of free entertainment; political speeches; distribution of the weekly cash offered by the Chamber of Commerce; games; and other attractions will be added. An enjoyable day may be spent in Canyon on the Fourth by the citizens of this section.

The Panhandle was soaked last week until it resembled a lake; but the dust was blowing again Monday. The Panhandle certainly reverts to type in a hurry. But no one gets excited this time of the year over a little dust.

The business houses of Canyon have renewed the plan for weekly distribution of cash. Wednesday has been selected as the day for this distribution, instead of Saturday which was used last year. The first day for this distribution will be next Wednesday, June 10, and continuing on Wednesday throughout June. Instead of the distribution on July 1st, however, this will be a feature on July Fourth, which comes on Saturday. Citizens of Randall county are invited to be in Canyon each and every Wednesday to participate in this distribution.

President Roosevelt will be in Texas next week, according to present plans. His trip will overshadow the importance of the Republican National Convention which starts in Cleveland on June 9. Did the astute political minded Mr. Roosevelt select these dates for his trip, or did it just happen to fall on the days the Republicans will be attempting to select a candidate? The nation will be following, and listening to President Roosevelt, rather than be concerned in the man who is to run against him.

Your hat may cover a lot of brains, but it is too small to top them all. There are others scattered around town.

And another thing, you never can tell how much the average man can remember until he is called as a witness.

Old-Fashioned Philadelphia Boasts Most Modern Convention Facilities

This graphic airview of Philadelphia shows points that will be centers of activity during the Democratic national convention. The theater, hotel, and shopping districts are located among the skyscrapers shown in the center background. This picture was taken looking eastward toward New Jersey.

PHILADELPHIA.—The Democratic national convention, which will renominate President Roosevelt, opens here June 23. The Democrats will find the Quaker City well equipped to handle such a great and complicated meeting as theirs is certain to be.

First, there is Convention Hall, in which the conclave's official business will be transacted. This hall—completed in 1931 at a cost of $5,000,000—seats 15,000 in its huge auditorium, and offers 60 side rooms for the "conferences" so indispensable to all political confabs.

The builders combined marble, bronze, and crystal in a decorative scheme that makes the building as beautiful as it is useful.

The auditorium is 300 feet long and 226 feet wide, and its ceiling is 88 feet above the floor. There are no columns to interfere with the spectators' vision and the acoustics are as nearly perfect as science can make them in such a large arena.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT probably will accept the nomination in Franklin Field, a short distance from the convention hall. This amphitheater, seating 80,000 people, has been the scene of several Army-Navy football games.

Convention Hall and Franklin Field are across the Schuylkill River, quite distant from the downtown district, but they may be reached by bus, trolley car, or elevated lines; and police have formulated a special plan to speed up motor transportation to and from these focal points.

City Hall, at Broad and Market streets, is the center of the business, shopping, theater, and hotel districts. Nestled in this bustling area may be found such historic landmarks as Independence Hall; Betsy Ross House, where the first Continental Congress met in 1774; and 209-year-old Christ Church, in which President Washington worshiped.

LESS than a block from the convention hall are Philadelphia General Hospital and the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, both nationally known. Other university buildings are nearby.

Fairmount Park, northwest of the downtown district, extends along both banks of the Schuylkill River for about five miles until the river is joined by Wissakickon Creek, and up this creek through a beautiful glen for six more miles. All the 3400 acres included in this park are within the city limits.

First-time visitors to Philadelphia will wonder at the small number of apartment houses to be found. There are hundreds of miles of streets lined with rows of two and three-story single houses. Each has a porch, a front yard, and a back yard.

Even the low-wage earners for the most part own their own homes. That is the Philadelphian's idea of the way to live. The beehive apartment existence, believed indispensable in most large cities, is not to the liking of residents of staid old "Philly."

MISS FRANCES LESTER AND LARRY HOLMAN WED

Of interest to their many friends is the marriage of Miss Jodie Frances Lester and Mr. Larry Holman, which was solemnized Sunday at 5 o'clock in a twilight ceremony at the home of Mrs. Jamie Talley and Mrs. Irene Wilson, sisters of the bride.

The solemn vows were read by the Rev. I. E. Walker of White Deer at a beautifully improvised altar. A basket of blue delphiniums was placed on the mantle piece with candelabra holding tall pink tapers placed at either side. Tall baskets of pink and blue larkspur were placed at either side of the fire place from which pink satin streamers were carried by little Ernestine Walker and Wilma Jo Holman, dressed in pink and blue taffeta, to form an isle for the bridal party.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Lillian Wood of Wheeler sang "O Promise Me," accompanied by Mrs. I. E. Walker. Mendelssohn's Wedding March announced the approach of the bridal pair and attendants. "I Love You Truly" was played softly through the impressive ring ceremony.

The bride was attractive, wearing aqua marine chiffon and carrying a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Her going away costume was a white palm beach suit with pink accesories.

Aliece Makeig of Dumas, as bridesmaid was dressed in pale pink crepe with a corsage of pink and white carnations. Raymond Hale of Oklahoma City was best man.

Wedding Cake Served

For the reception which followed the dining table was covered with a beautiful imported lace banquet cloth and lighted by four pink candles wreathed in blue larkspur. The buffet was also lighted by pink candles and centered with a bouquet of roses, pink and blue larkspur. The tiered wedding cake was topped with small bride and groom figures of white and black. This was cut by the bride and served by Mrs. A. W. Hawks. Miss Frances Holman, sister of the groom, presided at the punch bowl.

Guests at the wedding were Mrs. E. V. Holman, Mrs. L. H. Holman and daughters, Mrs. A. W. Hawks, Rev. and Mrs. I. E. Walker and Ernestine; Miss Mary E. Hudspeth, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hale, Oklahoma City; Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Lester and Misses Martha and Mavat Lester of Floydada; Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Burnett, Dumas; Miss Nell Freeman and Cecil Baer, Dumas; Miss Lillian Wood, Wheeler and Harold Shanklin, Channing.

Mrs. Holman received her degree from W. T. in 1931. Since that time she has been teaching in Dumas.

Dr. McAndrew to Deliver Lecture Here June 5-6

Editor of Two Leading School Magazines Since 1928

Dr. William McAndrew, who will speak at the College on June 5 and 6, was born in Ypsilanti, Mich., and graduated from the Ypsilanti State Teachers College, after which he entered the University of Michigan, graduating with an A. B. degree and the honor of Phi Beta Kappa.

He was principal of the Hyde Park High School from 1889 to 1891; also principal of Pratt High School, Brooklyn, N. Y. from 1892 to 1898. He organized the Washington Irving High School in New York City, being principal until 1914. He was Associate Superintendent of Schools of New York City from 1914 to 1924, and Superintendent of Schools of Chicago from 1924 to 1928.

He has been editor of "Educational Review" and "School and Society" since 1928.

The least one can say for Dr. McAndrew is that he is continually being called back to speak in the same place. Ann Arbor, Atlanta, Boston, Birmingham, Chicago, Charleston, Cincinnati, Columbus, Detroit, Duluth, Evansville, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Minneapolis, New Haven, New York, Omaha, Pittsburgh, Portland, Los Angeles, Ypsilanti, Zanesville, and hundreds of towns and large cities have asked him over and over.

For many years this student of society has been questioning the masters of life and mind on methods of overcoming the obstacles to man's birthright, the happy life. He sprays their science, philosophy and good humor upon his audience with unabated delight.

He has numerous subjects, such as "Life Among the Boneheads," "Attempts at a Science of Self-Cultivation," "The Best Year Yet," (a cheer-up for teachers, Parent-Teacher Associations, etc); and "Why and How Should Schools Teach Politics."

Gasoline Is Being Used to Kill Dandelion Plants in City

Either gasoline or kerosene may be used to quickly exterminate dandelions, according to experiments which are being made by E. Burroughs and T. V. Reeves.

Mr. Burroughs made a squirt can for the purpose which he saw advocated in Popular Mechanics.

Mr. Reeves used the simle method of running a sharp stick into the ground 5 or 6 inches along the root of the plant, and then pouring into the hole a small amount of gasoline.

It is stated that only a little oil is necessary to rot the root of the plant, and that the grass will not be killed unless an unnecessary amount of gasoline or kerosene is placed on the root. At least the grass is not disturbed as much as is the case when the dandelions are dug up.

Mrs. Temple Houston Visited Museum Yesterday W T Campus

"—and the train crew and all would get out and gather turnips whenever we passed a convenient patch," exclaimed Mrs. Temple Houston, 70, daughter-in-law of the Texas Patriot, as she addressed interviewers, photographers and friends gathered about her in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum yesterday. She was telling them about early railroad service in the Panhandle.

Plump and jolly little Mrs. Houston related with a gleam of enthusiasm in her grey eyes the story of her ride "in the 'caboose' of the first train that ever came to Canadian, Texas." Her husband, Temple Houston, was at that time an attorney for the Santa Fe railroad. Previously, at the age of 20, he had been district attorney over thirty-five counties of Texas.

The Temple Houstons lived in Mobeetie from 1883 until 1889. At that time they moved to Canadian. Mrs. Houston lives now in Woodward, Okla. She is the guest of Mrs. V. E. Fatheree of Pampa, where she has been attending Texas Centennial Celebrations. On June 4, Mrs. Houston will ride in a parade in Pampa as a participant in the Historical Pageant.

While in Canyon, Mrs. Houston was a guest of L. F. Sheffy, secretary to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society.

Phys. Ed. Major May Be Obtained During Next Year

Beginning in September 1936 students at W. T. may major in physical education. Courses which will fit into the physical education major will also be offered during the summer session.

The college is constantly receiving calls for well trained physical education and health education teachers. Superintendents usually want persons with degrees who have specialized through a major or minor in the field. Students who know facts, who understand principles, and who are skilled teachers will find places available to them in desirable teaching situations.

The requirements of the major in physical education include chemistry and biology and 24 to 30 semester hours of special health and physical education courses. The degree requirements of 120 semester hours are the same as when other majors are chosen.

Miss Ruth Cross is head of the physical education department for women and Al Baggett of the department for men.

Condron, Jarrett Plan Two-Year Pre-Law Program

Prof. S. H. Condron is faculty adviser for students who expect to enter law school after leaving this college.. He and Dean R. P. Jarrett have worked out a two-year program for this group of students which is in line with the requirements of the best colleges and universities of the United States.

English and the social studies receive more emphasis than any other subjects, but the man who hopes to be a successful lawyer must be acquainted with many fields of knowledge, so mathematics, natural sciences and psycology are included in the program as well as speech which is essential to the man who will plead cases before juries.

Pre-law students are urged to identify themselves with such college organizations as the International Relations Club, the Young Democratic Club, the Dramatic Club, and others which will give them active experience in working with people, and will acquaint them with many areas of thought. They are also asked to read many magazines in the college library and acquire information about current affairs, and extensive vocabularies.

Visits to County, District and Federal Courts are also arranged for the embryo lawyers, and they spend many hours acquainting themselves with the materials in the United States Depository which is a unit of the library.

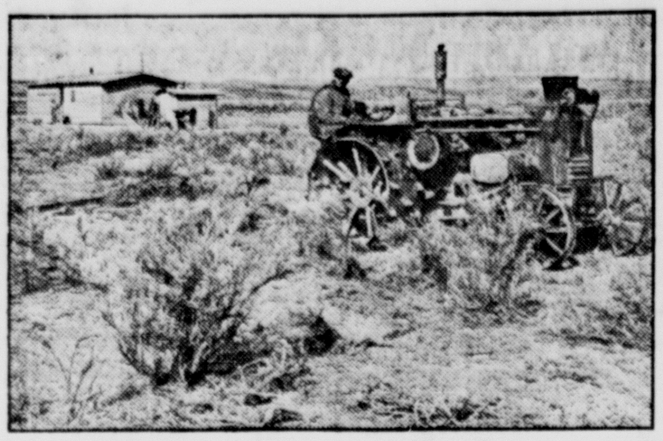
Modern Pioneers Find Homes in Reclaimed Desert



Approximately 10,000 acres of desert land are being cleared in eastern Oregon and western Idaho to provide farms and homes for thousands of farmers. Water from the reservoir of the Owyhee federal reclamation project will flow in the irrigation channels for the first time this summer, changing the rich, dust-dry soil of the desert to productive farm land. Begun in 1930, the Owyhee project will be completed this year, making possible the irrigation of 112,000 acres of arid land. The settler shown at the left is clearing his land of sagebrush with a tractor, while below a six-horse team is discing the rich, cleared land for the first crop.

Special Course Is Prepared For Medical Students

High school graduates who hope to become doctors will find a special course of study worked out for them when they enroll at the West Texas State Teachers College, whether they begin their college work in the summer or in the regular session. The program which has been arranged by Dean R. P. Jarrett and Dr. C. A. Pierle head of the Chemistry Department conforms to those of the best universities, and students who embark on pre-med work are informed that they should keep all their work above a "C" average, and should have no grades below "C."

Mathematics, the natural sciences, foreign language, English, psychology and social sciences are prescribed for the first two years of college work. After that time the emphasis on the natural sciences increases, and the pre-med men and women spend long hours in the laboratories.

Students who choose this college can do pre-professional work for from $225.00 to $365.00 per year, exclusive of clothing, which need not be a large item.

Bible Courses To Be Offered In Summer Terms

"The Literature of the New Testament" is the title of one of the Bible courses which will be offered by the department of Bible this summer.

Miss Oscie Sanders will teach this course and another known as Bible 312, "A Study of the Prophetic Literature of the Old Testament." Both will be given during the first term as Miss Sanders will spend the last half of the summer at Chicago University where she will work upon her dissertation.

Bible is scheduled just as other subjects and full college credit is given upon all courses. Although the study of a credit basis was introduced only last fall, the department has already proven popular with sixty men and women enrolled in the classes which have studied "The Bible and Religious Experience," "Introduction to the Practice of Religion," and "The Growth of the Early Christian Church."

Commerce Dept. Will Offer B. B. A. Beginning June 4

Changes are being made in the department of commerce so that its work will lead to the Bachelor of Business Administration degree. The State Board of Teachers College Regents instructed President Hill to make this change when it held its last mid-winter meeting.

The department of Business Administration is headed by Mr. W. E. Lockhart. Mr. Herschel Jennings and Mr. Lee Johnson are the other members.

According to a statement which will appear in next year's catalog, the department has three purposes: "(1) To furnish opportunities for young men and women to prepare for entrance into the business world—to become managers, leaders, and executives; (2) To train teachers for the commercial departments of modern high schools; (3) To prepare secretarial workers—stenographers, secretaries, and general office and clerical employees."

The department names as a minor objective "offering opportunities for college students to secure training in business affairs so that they may manage their own lives more skillfully."

The department will require 42 semester hours of credit in business administration, 30 hours of which must be advanced.

Although a major in business administration has never been offered at this college, it has always had a greater demand upon it for teachers of commercial subjects and stenographers and secretaries than it has been able to supply. Many high schools throughout northwest Texas offer work in this field and hundreds of young people who live in this section of the state are interested in preparing themselves for the business world. It is expected that beginning with the summer session this department will become one of the largest and most important in the college.

Hughes Discusses Texas Progress During 50 Years

Dr. W. L. Hughes of A. & M. College, who is teaching in W. T. this summer, spoke at the Rotary club luncheon Tuesday, discussing progress in Texas during the past 50 years. Dr. Hughes was born at Coleman, on the frontier of West Texas, and as a boy drove 6 oxen to a plow in breaking the land of Williamson county.

Summing up changes in Texas during the past 50 years, Mr. Hughes believes that it has largely been a period of exploitation, without a plan. We are now beginning to realize how the soil and the natural resources have been exploited.

In governmental lines, Dr. Hughes believes we have made little progress. We still have the constitution of 1876; pay the governor $4,000, and we don't always get the best governor. We still have the long ballot.

Very few changes have been made in our county government in 50 years.

But the cities have made great progress when the commission form of government was adopted.

School government has not greatly improved. We have 7,000 school districts with 30,000 school trustees in Texas. Some schools are no better than they were 50 years ago, although there has been material improvement in buildings and teachers in most sections.

In social lines some improvements have been made. Public health has greatly improved, thanks to preventative medicine of doctors, and sanitation. Crime conditions have not improved, and the divorce record is worse today than 50 years ago.

The home and school were the great social institutions of 50 years ago. Today the movies are reputed to have taken first place. The public press has taken its place as a great social force.

Dr. Hughes deplores the exploitation of the soil. 50 years ago most farmers owned their land; today 61% of the farmers of Texas are tennants.

Standards of living have greatly improved for many people in 50 years, yet there are many people living today with very low standards and under indecent conditions.

Summing up, Dr. Hughes believes the trouble of today is that there has been no plan for progress during the past 50 years.

Visitors were: Harry S. Taylor of Portales; Arthur Osgood, Fred T. Bryan, H. W. Galbraith, all of Amarillo; J. A. Meek of Pampa; J. D. Wilson of Canyon.

The luncheon at Cousins Hall called for tonight was postponed when the Amarillo club was unable to meet with the local club.

Thousands of Acres of Good Wheat Over West Part of Randall

Joe Friemel was here yesterday from Umbarger and stated that there are thousands of acres of wheat in the west section of the county which will run from 15 to 20 bushels per acre.

Mr. Friemel stated that two weeks ago, before the rain, his wheat was only about six inches high, with no prospects for a crop. Today the wheat is about two feet high, and seems to be heading in fine shape.

A few farmers reported the danger of black rust Saturday owing to the damp, cloudy weather, but the sunshine and wind of Monday and Tuesday stopped such a danger.

Mr. Friemel states that a strip of territory about five miles wide extending from Jowell to Wildorado has an excellent wheat crop. This section received rains which did not fall in other parts of the county.

Haley's Book Life Col. Goodnight Is on Sale in Canyon

The first copies of "Charles Goodnight," by J. Evetts Haley were received yesterday at Warwick's. The demand for the books has been so large that only limited shipments have been received in this territory.

Haley writes the life of Colonel Goodnight from the rich experience of his association during the final years of Goodnight's eventful life. The association between the old pioneer and the youthful secretary of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society grew until there were few men who were privileged to know Col. Goodnight as did Haley.

Reviews of the book have been printed in all of the leading newspapers in the nation. A leading position was granted by the New York Herald-Times last Sunday, while the Dallas News printed an extended review.

Another interest in the book are the splendid illustrations by Harold Bugbee of Clarendon, the young artist who was also closely associated with Col. Goodnight.

According to prominent writers, this book will be classed as one of the outstanding biographies of the year.

Prof. Casey's experience with newspapers is not limited to the academic by any means, although he has developed his practical knowledge by intensive study and detailed analysis of many papers. He is the son of a newspaper man, his father, W. J. Casey, having published the Knoxville (Iowa) Express for more than half a century.

On this weekly newspaper, which is regarded as a model in a section of the country where excellent country papers thrive and abound, the younger Casey learned as a youngster the details of the work on a country newspaper.

He was graduated in 1920 from the School of Journalism at the University of Missouri, after four years of instruction under the guiding influence of Walter Williams, then dean of the school, later its president. Prof. Casey received his masters degree from Stanford University in California.

In 1920 he became the farm editor of the Nashville Tennessean. From there he went to Tokyo, Japan, where he became advertising manager of the Japan Advertiser, an American-owned daily newspaper printed in English, later associate editor of the Trans-Pacific Magazine at Tokyo.

After two years in the Orient, he completed a round-the-world trip via Europe. At Geneva in the spring of 1923 he was granted an interview with Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the League of Nations, more recently Britain's ambassador to Italy. Following this he visited France, Germany and England in a similar capacity, flying from Paris to London and returning to the United States to accept a position as statehouse reporter on the Des Moines Register.

That same year he was called back to the University of Missouri by Dean Walter Williams to teach journalism. At that time he started analytical work in the weekly newspaper field, believing that this branch of journalism was receiving too scant attention in the journalism schools of the country.

His work attracted such national attention that he gained a reputation as a country newspaper specialist and, after four years of teaching at Missouri, was offered a professorship at the University of Oklahoma in 1927. He has continued his studies of the weekly newspaper in the United States and Canada since that time, and has been selected to write a history of the National Editorial Association, which is an organization designed to serve the 12,000 weekly and small town daily newspapers of the nation.

He is married and the father of three daughters, ages 11, 9 and 3.

For the last ten years he has annually selected outstanding weeklies of the United States and Canada for signal recognition. The papers and their editors and publishers are written up as a mythical eleven in the same manner that an All-American football team is publicized.

All reporters and correspondents of The Canyon News, and of all newspapers of this section are invited to hear Prof. Casey at the College Auditorium at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, June 12.

Money Saved If Delinquent Taxes Paid This Month

A new law of graduated increase in penalties on delinquent taxes is now in effect, which increases the amount of penalty and interest due each month. If the property owner did not pay his 1936 taxes before the end of January this year, the penalty is now 5% of the taxes due.

However, if the delinquent taxes are not paid on or before June 30, 1936, the penalty is increased to 8% on the first of July, interest at the rate of 6% is started, and in addition, $1.00 is added as a cost bill.

This makes a considerable increase for the 1935 taxes which are not paid during this month.

The second half of the split tax is due during June, and must be paid before the end of the month. Many large tax payers are taking advantage of this feature of the new tax payment law, paying their taxes in two installments, in December and June.

Dr. Paul Stewart and family of Tulia, and A. D. Cummings and family of Floydada, visited Saturday in the home of their sister, Mrs. M. S. Bishir.

Children To Form Large Chorus In Centennial Fete

Plans are being rapidly developed for the massed chorus of 50,000 school children at Dallas on June 13th. J. D. Wilson, deputy superintendent from the Panhandle district, made the following statement yesterday regarding the event:

"50,000 Texas school children will assemble in a Massed Chorus to be held in Dallas on June 13th, at 10:00 a. m. Dr. L. A. Woods, State School Superintendent, is sponsoring this great chorus, which will be the greatest chorus ever to assemble in the world.

"The Massed Chorus will be broadcast by national and international radio hookup throughout the world. Much interest is being taken in music in the public schools of Texas. In the Panhandle thirty-seven accredited high schools have offered music as a credit during the past year. Music is being offered in practically all rural and urban schools of the state. The school children of Texas are being taught to sing, and to appreciate music. The State Department of Education is very anxious to produce a music program second to none in the history of the world.

"Judge Burney Slack, County Judge of Randall county, has secured free tickets which will entitle children to free admission to the Centennial grounds. I wish to urge all school children of Randall county who expect to participate in the Centennial Massed Chorus to call at Judge Slack's office for free tickets. Without these tickets the children cannot be admitted free to the Exposition.

"The Panhandle of Texas will send about 2,500 school children to take part in the Massed Chorus. We want Randall county well represented. The children of the Panhandle will be seated in a certain section of the Stadium and by counties."
